number(s) of employer, until after expiry of at least six months from the date of leaving the Company.

3. CONFIDENTIALITY

- (a) Confidential Information shall mean and include any data or information whether stored in physical or electronic form or available otherwise including without being limited to any copyrights, functional or other specifications, programs, business or trade secrets, innovations and improvements, software code or application, client or vendor details, correspondence, business plans, prices, your salary, financial data etc. or any other information pertaining to the dealings, affairs, or transactions of the Company, whether existing on the date hereof or created or acquired pursuant to the respective employment agreement with the Company.
- (b) employees shall acknowledge and respect the exclusive proprietary rights of the Company in its Confidential Information during the employment or after its expiry or termination and undertake not to remove, make hard or soft copies of, unauthorizedly exploit, or disclose the same to any person including without being limited to the future employer, client, partner or affiliate.
- (c) In the event of breach of the provisions of sub-clause (b) above, the Employee shall incur pecuniary liability to pay liquidated damages to the Employer, without any demur or protest on first demand equivalent to a sum of money representing Company's loss either of revenues or clientage, or any other, as the case may be, suffered by reason of disclosure or loss of Confidential Information.

4. NON-COMPETE AND NON-SOLICIT

- (A) The employee covenants that during the subsistence of this Agreement and twenty four consecutive months thereafter he shall:
 - (a) not accept any direct or indirect offer of employment, assignment, business, joint venture, etc. in any capacity whether consultant, employee, adviser, equity participant, independent contractor or any other, from Employer's direct or indirect clients, associates, partners, affiliates, irrespective of their place of business or incorporation,

- (b) not solicit or endeavor to solicit the custom of Company's clients or their associates, partners or affiliates for himself or anyone else, nor solicit, or endeavor to solicit, influence or attempt to influence Company's clients or their associates, partners or affiliates to purchase his or anyone else's product and/or services in preference to those of the Company, and
 - (c) not solicit or attempt to influence any person employed or engaged by the Company whether as an employee, consultant, advisor or in any other capacity, to terminate or otherwise cease such employment or engagement with the Company or become his or someone else's employee or offer services to either in any capacity.
- (B) In the event of breach of the provisions of clause (A) above, the Employee shall incur a pecuniary liability to pay liquidated damages to the Employer, without any demur or protest on first demand a sum of money representing Company's the latest gross annual revenue from the Client(s) or its associates, partners or affiliates or the person engaged by the Company, as the case may be, and in any case not falling short of a sum of money equivalent to twelve times the highest gross monthly revenue derived therefrom prior to the breach, or the actual sum, whichever is higher. The quantum of liquidated damages specified herein are not intended to be a penalty but represent a reasonable estimate of the Company's losses and damages based on special and peculiar circumstances obtaining herein and as such impossible exact proof.

5. TERMINATION FOR BREACH

All or any of the following acts and omissions or attempts thereof shall amount to breach of this Agreement by Employee and in the eventuality of breach, Employer may terminate this Agreement either by verbal or written notice:

- (a) immediately if the Employee is guilty of any act(s) amounting to misconduct, indiscipline or insubordination,
- (b) if any information furnished by the Employee is found to be false in material particulars,
- (c) if the Employee is guilty of fraud or misappropriation,

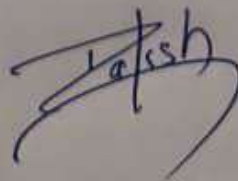

- (d) if Employee abandons his duties or remains absent for seven consecutive days without prior written permission from his reporting officer,
- (e) if Employee commits any other act/deed which, in the opinion of the Company, is detrimental to its interests, and/or
- (f) if the Employee fails to observe any of the terms of this Agreement, including without limitation the provisions for lock-in period and/or the termination notice.

6. CONSEQUENCES OF BREACH

- (a) If an Employee fails to serve the Company termination notice upon the Company, he shall incur a pecuniary liability to pay liquidated damages to the Employer, without any demur or protest on first demand including but not limited to Company's loss of revenues, cost of staff replacement, loss due to delay in delivery of assignments, extra cost incurred for completion of the work, salary for the entire notice period, etc. as the case may be.
- (b) The liability of the Employee in the preceding sub-clause (a) shall be in addition to and not in derogation of liability for any loss or damage caused to the Employer by breach of any other provisions of this Agreement.

7. PROBATIONARY PERIOD

The Employee shall be on probation period for 3 months which will be effective from the Term of Employment. The Probationary Period shall be deemed to have been extended automatically unless notified in writing by the Employer. The Employee will not be entitled to terminate this Agreement during the Probationary Period and any violation of the same will result in forfeiture of professional fee, withholding of experience certificate as the Employer shall be investing significantly in time and money on the Employee. The Employer reserves the right to terminate the services of the Employee at any time during the probationary period if the Employee is found incompetent for the position, indiscipline or for any other reason, without notice of termination.

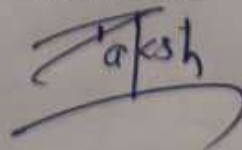

8. TERMINATION NOTICE

8.1 BY EMPLOYER
